

Home... It's
hard to even think about home when I
left it behind me
such a long time ago.
It used to be simply
the place where
I have
grown. But
after years
abroad it
feels less and
less like home every time I go back.
It's neither here nor
there. I
guess for me home is
the future or the
hope for the
place it could be.